

COMMERCE COMMISSION

13 September 2005

Process for Mobile Termination Reconsideration

The Commission has decided on a process to respond to the Minister's requirement for the Commission to reconsider its recommendation to regulate mobile termination.

The Commission proposes to address the Minister's reasons for reconsideration in a draft report for release next month. Submissions and cross submissions will be requested on the draft report.

The Commission will consider all submissions on the draft report before delivering a final report with a fresh recommendation to the Minister. The Commission expects to do this before the end of the calendar year.

The timing of the Commission's process may be affected by Vodafone's application to the High Court to prevent the Commission from publicly releasing details of Vodafone's offer to the Minister to reduce mobile termination rates.

Yours sincerely

Osmond Borthwick
Manager Network Access