PUBLIC VERSION

Dear Ross,

MTAS investigation – additional information regarding upcoming retail plans

In yesterday's letter we did not include information on some retail price changes that we are planning. By the time we had certainty on the Commission's approach to confidentiality, it was too late to include them in the letter.

I now include some more information on plans for upcoming retail changes. This is on the basis of the email assurance from Shane Kinley yesterday that we would have the option to withdraw this information from the Commission's reconsideration process were the Commission to conclude that this information would not receive the additional confidentiality protection we are seeking. Note that these changes are being planned but are yet to be finalised, and we may make other changes not given here.
