Additional contextual information

In addition to the information set out in the table above, the Commission provides the following aggregated information.

Anonymous cartel reports

Since 8 April 2021, the Commission has received 221 anonymous reports alleging cartel conduct. We note that the majority of these reports do not in fact relate to cartel conduct but instead reflect conduct that anonymous reporters believe to be cartel behaviour.

Leniency, immunity, and cooperation enquiries

Over the same period, the Commission has received 11 hypothetical enquiries regarding whether leniency or immunity may be available. The Commission does not systematically record general cooperation enquiries and would only create a formal record where an application for cooperation is made.

Formal leniency and immunity applications

Since 8 April 2021, the Commission has received 49 formal applications for leniency or immunity.

Consideration of criminal prosecution

All cartel matters involving conduct occurring after cartel criminalisation came into effect on 8 April 2021 are assessed to determine whether criminal prosecution is appropriate. In three matters, criminal prosecution was considered as a possible enforcement option at the conclusion of an investigation.

Referral for prosecution decision-making

The Commission does not refer cartel matters internally or externally for criminal prosecution decision-making. Decisions on whether to commence a criminal cartel prosecution are made internally by the Commission.

Criminal cartel prosecutions and outcomes

Since criminalisation, eight criminal cartel charges have been filed, all of which relate to a single prosecution. Four defendants were charged in that proceeding. Four guilty pleas have been entered, and four convictions have been obtained.
